

God Made the World

SARAH JEAN COLLINS

In the beginning, our planet was
a dark and empty place,
but the Spirit of God was moving there
across the big, blank space.

And so God spoke on the very first day;
He said, "Let there be light."

He named the glowing brightness "day"
and called the darkness "night."

The second day, God spoke again, and
the deep, blue sea was formed.

Over the waters he blew some fresh air;
that day the sky was born.
